

Sure, with all believe you it's impossible to make a machine and in the future

ok go on then!

So I have assembled to tell you my story here in my home machine in

The first desalination
was in 1943

I arrived in Bam, the water was red and there were destroyed
buildings everywhere

He gave me clean water and food
for the night

you don't believe me well, I will tell you all about it. If you don't believe me
later

A part for his men who can prove me

once the night was over, I headed back home with my machine

That still doesn't prove us what your story is true!

With a bottle of red water collected in a panel back there make you think it's true?

Thank you!

Thank you!

and the nobel prize goes to Sappapaye!

Well done

Thank you

after three years Sappapaye sadly
dies in crisis
