

maybe I could find explanations about why these people look so childlike.. I thought they would be way more developed but they definitely aren't Why are they all wearing the same clothes? And why are there no differences between men and women?

That's so strange ...

they seem to feel so safe and comfortable, I guess there is less violence and there is no need for men to be strong.

wow this view from the top of the hill is breathtaking

